MUSEUM OF APOXYOMENOS MALI LOŠINJ

Municipality of Mali Lošinj

LOŠINJ

KVARNER

CROATIA
Full of life

MA

Town of Mali Lošinj and Tourism Office have received a prestigious UNWTO (World Tourism Organization) Ulysses Award for excellence in innovations in tourism and won the third place for the „Scents and Flavours of Lošinj“ concept and project.

The Fragrances and Tastes of Lošinj project is based on tradition. As early as in 1892, Professor Ambroz Haračić, a biologist, studied the island's specific microclimate. During the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy, Lošinj was proclaimed a climatic health resort for bronchial diseases. Today, Lošinj boasts the same quality. First-quality air and sea, 207 sunny days per year, walking and hiking trails in the length of 280 km stretching across five islands, over 180 dolphins and a Marine Research and Conservation Center which offers the possibility of adopting a dolphin, thus contributing to the protection and conservation of the species.

Project started by taking small steps, such as developing the Garden of Fine Scents, and then expanded outside the Croatian borders and around the world. The core principles that our project and tourism in general rest on are sustainability and responsibility. We are developing a center of excellence, ensuring education for all, from programs intended for kindergarten children to adult education and lifelong learning programs.

Friendship of Lošinj and dolphins

The Lošinj archipelago is a habitat to about 200 bottlenose dolphins. The main aim of The Blue World Institute in Veli Lošinj is contributing to the research and conservation of the marine environment through public awareness and education.

You can also join the campaign “Adopt a Dolphin”. If you would like to adopt, you can do it personally in Veli Lošinj or on the Institute’s website.

The Blue World offers a package to those who adopt and the yearly magazine Akvamarin. You will also receive a photo of the dolphin whose protection you have encouraged by its adoption.

APOXYOMENOS

- a masterpiece of Croatian and world heritage
(2nd – 1st century B.C.)

The antique bronze statue of an athlete, 192 cm tall, taken from the sea bed between the islet of Vele Orjule and the island of Lošinj on 27 April 1999, is the only large bronze statue found to date on the eastern coast of the Adriatic.

The statue represents an athlete, a young sportsman, at the moment of cleaning oil, dust and sweat from his body with a scraping tool after a competition.

From nine well-known variations of the Apoxyomenos prototype (the most famous being the bronze statue from Kunsthistorisches Museum in Vienna, discovered in 1896 in Ephesus), the Lošinj statue is the most perfect and best-preserved. The statue's sculptor is unknown but the classical beauty and high quality of workmanship testify to a consummate craftsman. The statue of Apoxyomenos is on permanent display in Mali Lošinj at the Apoxyomenos Museum (previously Kvarner Palace).

Museum of Apoxyomenos

This unique museum is dedicated to the statue of Apoxyomenos whose story begins at the very entrance in the blue room on the ground floor. The nine scenes of each room offer exquisite sensory experiences. By means of taste, smell, hearing, and vision, the visitors can fully and individually experience the Apoxyomenos, as well as the destination of the island of vitality, one of the most beautiful spots on the Mediterranean.

The museum and the Apoxyomenos exhibition represent a spacial materialisation of scenarios and ceremonies of passing through the rooms and corridors that embody the architecture which is programmed with an accompanying exhibition and the display of the statue.

The Lošinj Museum - One museum, two islands, three buildings

The Lošinj Museum has three locations, in Mali Lošinj, Veli Lošinj, and in Osor, and it keeps historical, archaeological, ethnographical, and art collections. The Museum's headquarters is in the Fritzi Palace in Mali Lošinj where visitors can see many collections, like the Collection of old Piperata masters (Italian baroque and rococo paintings), Dante Lussino Photograph Collection (photographic equipment from the late 19th and early 20th century, and reproduction of panoramic photographs of Lošinj from the beginning of the 20th century), and Andro Vid Mihičić Collection (paintings and sculptures of Croatian modern art). Apart from study exhibitions relating to the Town of Mali Lošinj, the gallery area for temporary exhibitions also presents contemporary art. The Tower Museum in Veli Lošinj presents the town's history and the importance of sea navigation. Archaeological Collection Osor guards the material dating from prehistoric times, ancient times, and Middle Ages, that present different types of human production, ceramics, glass items, metal objects, stone reliefs and sculptures, and coin collection.

Footpath of vitality

We have created over 250 kilometers of walking trails for you. Along these trails, you can encounter guests from all over the world. Wake up in the morning, fill your lungs with the morning air and take a walk with the first rays of the sun. If you opt for some other physical activity, such as jogging or biking, you will be able to enjoy fragrant walking trails, beautiful landscapes, view spots and coves.

Along the three kilometers of the Mali Lošinj – Veli Lošinj footpath that stretches along the coast, hidden in a hundred-year-old pine forest, educational panels have been put up that provide the hikers with information on the importance of proper posture and breathing, as well as help them become aware of their movements and processes during their walks. The panels are on permanent display and thanks to them, the walkers can maximise the benefits of nature. There are about 10,000 steps in both ways, recommended to be taken every day according to the World Health Organisation standards. Active walkers can do both directions in 45 minutes, while recreational and slower walkers will need about an hour and a half.

The footpath is accessible individually, but guided tours are also provided by the employees of the Vitality Hotel Punta.
